

FPMRAH and ANAJURE issue public notice about the earthquake in Nepal and India and request support from the Federal Government for assistance to victims.

Parliamentary Front for Refugees and Humanitarian Aid and ANAJURE – National Association of Evangelical Jurists in Brazil, through its respective representatives, comes, through the present expedient, to expose to Brazilian Government and to International Community their support and request for assistance on what is explained ahead:

Last Saturday (25), an earthquake measuring 7.8 on the Richter scale left about 4000 dead and 7000 injured in Nepal, many of whom are homeless, without food and water, according to estimates from the local government until now. We deeply regret the suffering of victims and are mobilized with our international partners to offer humanitarian aid, within our powers, commiserating for losses caused by the disaster.

We claim the Brazilian Government and the international community to provide humanitarian assistance to the victims, so that the countries can recover as soon as possible from the disaster. In this sense, the federal government might allocate the necessary resources for the General Coordination for International Actions against Hunger (CGFome), Foreign Ministry humanitarian aid program, and might act specifically on the Nepal and India disaster.

Thus we leave the present Public Notice registered with the due providence.
